

THE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN

THE IRISHMEN FOR BLAINE IN TROY.
CLEVELAND'S NOMINATION INCREASES THE IRISH REPUBLICAN BRIGADE.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.)

TROY, July 12.—The enthusiasm of the Irish Democrats of Troy in favor of Blaine and Logan has received another impetus in the nomination of Grover Cleveland. Last night this dispatch was sent to Mr. Blaine at Albany:

"We, the undersigned, Delegates, concur in your upholding the nomination of Cleveland. Increased enthusiasm for Blaine among the Democrats of Troy."

This was signed by Samuel Morris, president of the Common Council; W. C. Cooley, the editor of The Evening Standard; John A. Fitzgerald, Dr. F. E. Fennelly, John P. Kelly, Michael Carroll, Michael Allen, Patrick Conaty, and others. President Morris made something like this in a speech last night before the Blaine and Logan Irish Brigade. There was a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

President Morris was found at his office this morning who will vote for Blaine and Logan. He said, "I can give you the names of all the men who are supporting them. To start with, there is John J. Kelly, for whom was a Democratic candidate in the First Ward. Kelly is going to take the stand that the Irishmen are the people elsewhere to come to the front. We are sick and tired of Democratic rule as seen in Troy and other large cities. We remember the days when it was a rule that the Democratic and will only have a seat in the Senate if he has that from the Murphy wing of the Democratic party in Troy. Cleveland smothered Murphy whenever he had the chance, and he is still in office, bringing about the success of the Republican ticket. It is the young Irishmen of Blaine and Logan who are not going to follow in their footstep by letting forever on a dead rock in the path, to speak. The tariff plank in the Democratic platform is another reason why a product of the Blaine and Logan ticket is bound to succeed. The 500 men now in office, who are not nulls, are not going to get out this year. Workmen are studying up the tariff question more than they used to do. And here is another straw. One of the reasons for the coming of the workingmen and laboring men of the city next evening, at every meeting, was to confess themselves in favor of Blaine and Logan."

THE WORKINGMEN FOR BLAINE.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.)

BOSTON, July 12.—The Journal publishes the following communication:

"I am a working man myself and have voted the Democratic ticket since 1876. But this year I shall vote for Blaine and Logan, and with me thousands of workingmen. Take a census of the shop and you will find that of the men who voted for the Democratic ticket seven out of ten will vote for Blaine next November."

BLAINE AND LOGAN TO BE ENTERTAINED.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.)

BOSTON, July 12.—The several clubs in this city and vicinity whose membership is Republican, have united in appointing a general committee to make arrangements for a great entertainment at a banquet hall in September. The Norfolk County Club is making ready to entertain and invited Blaine and Logan to the dinner. The members of the several towns report a much improved sentiment in favor of the ticket, where there was dissatisfaction directly after the nomination.

THE QUIGLEY SCHEME ADOPTED.

BOSTON, July 12.—There have been deposited to date $2,400,000 of bonds in favor of the "Quigley scheme" for the reorganization of the Toledo, St. Louis and Cincinnati Railroad, (St. Louis division) that is more than a majority representation, and Mr. Quigley has started West to arrange for the proceedings.

NO TICKET IN ARKANSAS.

LITTLE ROCK, July 12.—The Republican State Committee has decided that it is inexpedient to put a State ticket in the field at present.

WOMYNG WAKING UP.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.)

WAHRSBURG, July 12.—A Blaine and Logan club was organized at Gainesville town hall to night. Ex-Assemblyman John E. Lowry, of East Gainesville, was made president. Augustus Harrington of Wahrsburg made a brilliant speech for the Republican ticket. The Rev. M. Gaffney, the Irish soldier and orator, who had been falsely counted a discredited Arthurian hero, gave a magnetic speech of no uncertain sound for Blaine and Logan.

DEMOCRATS FOR BLAINE AND LOGAN.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.)

PITTSBURG, July 12.—Nine Democrats of the XVII Ward of this city will meet on Monday evening next to organize a Blaine and Logan Club.

THE BROOKLYN YOUNG REPUBLICANS. REPORT OF THE SUB-COMMITTEE ON BLAINE—NO ACTION TAKEN.

The sub-committee of the Brooklyn Young Republican Club, appointed three weeks ago to examine the record of Mr. Blaine, has presented its report to the Executive Committee of the club. The report was considered at a private meeting of the committee. It set forth the charges made against Mr. Blaine while in public office, which were deposited of years ago and effectively answered by Congressman Phelps by his nomination. Nothing new was brought forward in the way of charges of evidence. The sub-committee did not sign up the matter, but presented a simple statement of facts to the Executive Committee, failing to connect Mr. Blaine with any questionable proceedings. The Executive Committee reported that a considerable time would be required to prepare the defense of Mr. Blaine, and that the best thing to do was to submit the report to the club, as it is in effect, disproved all the allegations made against him.

The members of the committee refused yesterday to make the report public, as the Executive Committee had not finished considering it. James S. Case, secretary of the club, and the committee, said the report proceeded to the Executive Committee, and that nothing was done against Mr. Blaine. He was surprised that nothing new was developed. He had opposed the nomination, but now he should support Blaine, believing his record to be uniformly good and fitting Republican success more than Democratic.

It is not likely that a meeting of the club will be called to consider the question of "indorsing" the ticket until after the summer vacation, as many of the members are out of town.

BLAINE AND LOGAN CLUBS IN NEW-JERSEY.

At a large and enthusiastic meeting of Republicans of Morristown, N. J., on Friday night, a Blaine and Logan club was organized, with the following officers: President, Sheriff William H. Howell; vice-president, Dr. W. C. Parker and George J. Wyllie; secretary, John E. Vreden; treasurer, Hampton O. Marsh. Addresses were delivered by Alfred Mills and Theodore Little. Headquarters for the campaign will be opened at once and means taken to bring out the full Republican vote of Morris County.

MARRIAGE OF C. P. HUNTINGTON.

C. P. Huntington, the well-known railway magnate, was married yesterday to Mrs. A. D. Worms, at the house of the bride, No. 4 West Fifty-fourth street. The marriage took place at 10 a.m., the officiating clergyman being the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. No guests were present beyond the immediate family, except a few personal friends. Mr. and Mrs. Huntington left the church immediately after the ceremony, to be gone a few days on a trip to Europe.

Mr. Huntington's early home was in the South, but he has lived for a number of years in this city, his family and that of Mr. Huntington being on terms of the closest intimacy. She is wealthy in her own right. Her first husband died several years ago.

A FIGHT IN WALLACE'S THEATRE.

Two young men had a little "Lulu Hurst exhibition" of their own in the lobby of Wallace's Theatre last night after the spectators had departed. One of them displayed his "mysteries power" by attempting to bite off the ear of the clergymen, who was rolling on the tiled floor clasped in his embrace. The massive form of Sergeant Westervelt, however, bore down on the pair and he promptly put a stop to the scintillating investigation. The gifted young man was compelled to give the pleasure of chewing the other's ear and had to leave the theatre with the cold reality of a pair of hands pressed into his wrists. He was escorted down Thirtieth street by the police, the unscrupulous sergeant who had so gallantly interposed between the two young fellows, with a smile of triumph on his face.

Mr. Evans, who was the first speaker, General Hawley and Senator Van Wyck were on the stage, and the grand opera scene is about 3,000 feet. Colonel Stewart says that present indications point to the meeting of the two persons for an overhanging point to the meeting.

WHY ITALIANS FAVOR BLAINE.

Antonio Passino, of New-York, who is identified with all the prominent Italian societies in America, in an interview which appeared in The Newark Evening News yesterday, says that a meeting of the leading Italian and Spanish organizations was held recently, and that Blaine was unanimously "endorsed" by them. "There are about 70,000 votes indicated by these organizations," said he, "15,000 of which are in New-York City." A copy of the minutes of the meeting and of H. Progresso Italia Americana which reported the meeting were sent to Mr. Blaine and we have a personal letter, dated June 20, in reply which the writer thanks us for our action and gives us the assurance that our efforts in this direction will be successful ones and satisfactory to us. Our complaint against the existing state of affairs is that an Italian naturalized in America cannot return to Italy and be exempt from the conscription. This has passed the act of Congress, but Mr. Blaine is the man to see that Americans are not imposed upon abroad."

The New-York, which is independent in politics and has the largest circulation in the State, opposes the nomination of Cleveland.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

This was signed by Samuel Morris, president of the Common Council; W. C. Cooley, the editor of The Evening Standard; John A. Fitzgerald, Dr. F. E. Fennelly, John P. Kelly, Michael Carroll, Michael Allen, Patrick Conaty, and others. President Morris made something like this in a speech last night before the Blaine and Logan Irish Brigade. There was a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28, Cleveland 7, Butler 1; four were not citizens. Three checks were given for James A. Blaine, the protestant, and James A. Logan, the Catholic, for the sum of $100 each. The men were a storm of applause when he referred to the way in which a Democratic Congress had submitted General James' bill, striking rebel general as Sergeant-at-Arms instead of him. Mr. Morris wished the people of the country to know that the people of his race were voting for Blaine and Logan, not as Irishmen but as American citizens. He denounced Francis Kierman's assertion that the Blaine and Logan Irishmen were not heroes. He declared them to be real thinking, thinking men. "I know whereof I speak," said he, "for I have been identified with Irish organizations in New-York and Troy for twenty-five years." Seventeen additional members signed the roll of the brigades.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On a building at Fifty-eighth-st. and Fifth-ave., forty men, including carpenters, plasterers, painters and iron workers, are at work. At noon yesterday the men who caused the men in reference to Presidential preferences with this result: Blaine 28,